Agenciense has interrupted the trading due to a technical glitch before today. Related Delhi: in an unprecedented step, BSE and NSE said Wednesday that trading will continue until 17:00, as the latter has addressed a technical glitch that interrupted trading, and positions could not be solved by the usual Closing time. Trading will also resume on NSE, the exchange said in a statement. The Bourse said he would keep a pre-open session at 15:30, and the normal trading would start from 15:45. à € œNS & BSE to reopen for extended trading from 3:45 to 17:00. All the positions of the F & O MIS will be placed at 16:15 and all the positions of the F & O CO will be firmly placed by 16: 00à € , said Nithin Kamath, CEO of Zerodha. NSE said the trading would resume for all segments: F & O, cash, sib, commodity and currency. The unusual market timing has also created some problems for brokers, whose systems are designed to not work beyond market hours. For example, Zerodha users have said they were unable to use the graphs. Explain the situation for merchants who were blocked due to NSE to be off, Anand James, Chief Market Strategist at Geojit Financial Services, said that the expiry eve is a crucial day for exchanges related to the deadline as the decay of time Set in. à € œHow frozen indices shortly after 10 am, FNO Trade that reference these reference indexes also slowed down. With just a possible exchange time for such index-based traders, higher margins on F & o locations may have been a double Whammy. To this end, BSE being open may not have been very comfortable, but certainly a backup avenue for cash merchants, à € said. "The biggest question in this problem is because the whole market has been closed only because the indexes were not refreshing? The feeds for the underlying contracts were in place and so it was order correspondence, so why turn off 1 'whole market? A similar problem in the index feeds had recently happened a few months ago, but the trading has not been completely interrupted. Instead, trading went ahead with the glitch in index prices that day, "said Jimeet Modi, CEO and founder, Samco Ventures. At the beginning of the day, NSE was forced to stop trading as he met technical problems, so he blamed his telecommunications service providers. Brokers asked his customers to perform their exchanges on BSE, which worked as usual. However, during the last half hour of the usual trading time, the traders said that there were some unusual movements on BSE. à € œA lot of crazy moves on the BSE. It seems that the brokers are cutting the intraday positions on BSE, à € NOORESH MERANI, a tweeted technical analyst. The Metropolitan Stock Exchange of India (MSEI) on Tuesday said that it will extend the closing time of trading hours on its stock capitalsegment to 5pm from current 3.30pm with effect from Friday. But, Wednesday, the Metropolitan Stock Exchange of India (MSEI) postponed the extension of the closing time of trading hours on its stock capital market segment at 17:00 from 15.30. While rivals National Stock Exchange of India and BSE did not announce a change in time, brokers said they would be forced to follow the dress after the move of MSEI. In 2009, the Sebi capital market regulator had allowed trade to extend trading hours until 17:00. On December 16, 2009, BSE had made the first move, saying it was open for trading at 9.45. The next day, NSE said it would start trading in advance of 55 minutes. Finally, both bags decided to open to the stock exchange at 9. However, both decided not to extend timing beyond 3.30 due to broker resistance due to cost implications. A NSE source said the exchange spoke with brokers and initial feedback was not positive. "If brokers favor it then the exchange would not have a problem in changing the closing timing," said the source. BSE said they're gonna study the circus and then decide. Brokers said that while MSEI is trying to relaunch trading on the exchange by extending trading hours, it will not help much if larger players also extend the times. There was no trading on the MSEI on Tuesday. Only 211 shares are available for trade on the bag. "MSEI is extending the time to raise itself. I don't see how the NSE and EB renounce their territory. They will be forced to continue trading until 17:00," said Alok Churiwala, CEO, Churiwala Securities. For the broking industry, the move could lead to higher costs without proportional increase in revenues, called broker. "Before facie, costs will exceed the benefits. But it is the prerogative of the regulator", said Uttam Bagri, president, BSE Brokers' Forum. (What is Sensex and Nifty Track moving latest market news, stock tips and expert advice on ETMarkets. Unlike some markets like the United States and Europe, Indian markets have a standardized operating time throughout the year. Exchange of shares takes place only during specific intervals during the week. The sharing market times are as follows: 9:15-19:30 on weekdays are the times during which the BSE and NSE function. Muhurat Trading: normally the bag is closed for the Diwali festival, but it works for an hour between 17:30 and 18:40is considered auspicious. Indian Share Market Times for 2021 The time of the market Daily is further divided into three segments: Opening time: This time extends between 9:00 to 9:15 and all orders to buy or sell securitiesbe placed during this. It is also divided into three sessions: 9: 00-9: 08 AM: During this period the orders of insertion can be provided and are deleted on a preferential basis, orders can be adjusted or canceled also. 9: 08-9: 12 of the morning: since we know that the price of each safety is determined by the cumulative effect of demand and supply forces, during these 4 minutes the price to which safety must be exchanged is determined by the orders made in the first 8 minutes. This will set the price of safety opening. However, the change of orders already placed by investors is not allowed during this period. The determination of the final price of safety is carried out through a system of correspondence of the multilateral order.9: 12-9: 15 AM: this is the buffering period for the stock market before it begins, no order can be placed or revoked during this period. Normal session: this is the period during which the exchange actually works. The shares are purchased and sold among individuals during this period. Share Market Timingà for every day begins at 9:15 and extends until 15:30. Actions are exchanged through a bilateral order matching system that fluctuates the price of securities according to demand and supply forces that are lived at that time. One of the implications of using this system is that there is a certain level of volatility This exists in the market and to curb its influence a multilateral system of order matching was introduced in the pre-opening time for the Indian stock market. Indian closing session: A Trade in the stock market stops at 15:30. No exchange of shares can take place after this time. This session lasts from 15:30-4: 00 PM is dedicated to determining the closing price of titles that have a significant impact on the opening of the next day. It is further bifurcated in two sessions.3: 30 PM-3: 40 PM: À The safety closing price is determined during these 10 minutes. A system of the weighted average of the bonds negotiated between 3 and 3:30 is used to calculate the closing price. Indices such as Nifty, Sensex S & P are used to close the benchmark and industry prices.3: 40 PM-4: 00 PM: À This is the period during which offers can be placed for the next day. Orders are confirmed provided that there are adequate buyers and sellers and are placed at the price stipulated. The execution of these offers is carried out at the price set, regardless of the opening price of the next day. This also allows investors to recognize capital gains if the opening price exceeds the closing price, if the contrary, if it were the contrary, the investor canthe offer in the pre-opening session. After this time, it is not possible to place orders, and the stock market stops the operation for the day. Knowing the market times of both exchanges, in particular extended sessions is important for market participants. Trading hours for the stock market should be extended and brought to par with the time slot for commodity trade, saidThe Chief Executive Officer and the Chief Executive Officer of Bombay Stock Exchange (BSE). Attract, stock market trade is limited until 3.30 pm of the daily market, while the commerce raw materials market for almost 15 hours until 11.00 pm. "I was told that foreigners are interested in keeping him that way and so they make television news channels as they will have to work longer. But effectively, the rest of the world (markets) trades for almost 16 hours at Day. "Hindu businessline has quoted Chauhan as to say to a recent virtual conference on capital market reforms. Also read | 5 reasons why prolonged negotiation hours are an ugly Idoachauhan also said that India has lost the volumes of trade to exchanges based in Singapore, Dubai and the United States mainly due to the over short negotiation hours. The base BSE stressed that "our systems are ready" for the extension of the working time once the decision is aimed at stakeholders.technology is adequately available, he said, adding these hours of negotiation for Cash actions and derivatives à €
